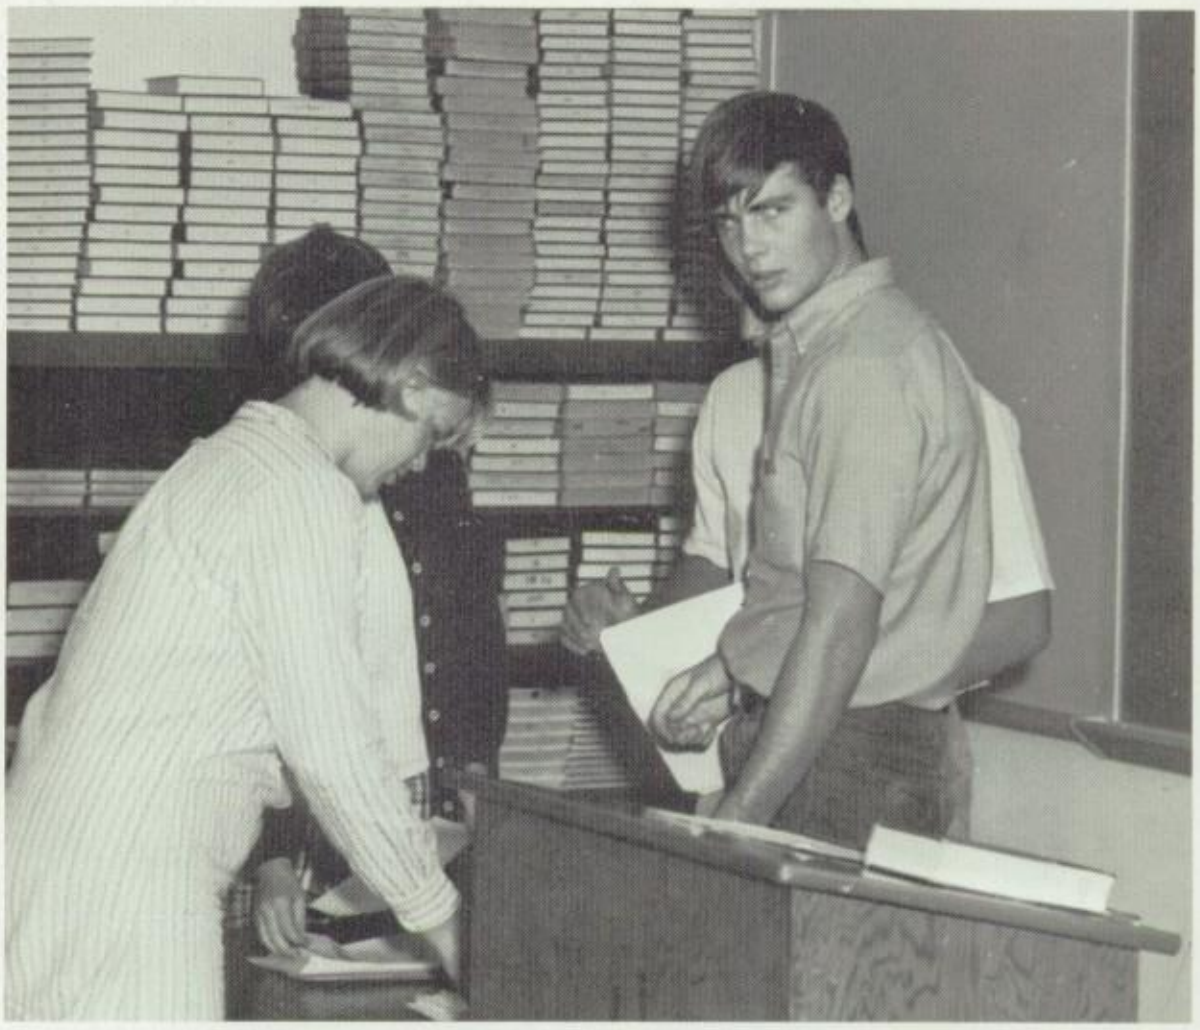
Academics

Mrs. Wrobleweski's philosophy: A happy face draws quick response.

Michelle Varga uses persuasive tactics in winning her customer, Bruce Goldberg.

English—First Move in Gaining Knowledge

As the scholastic pace quickens, students find a knowledgeable background in English indispensable.



George Murrman actively participating in English class.

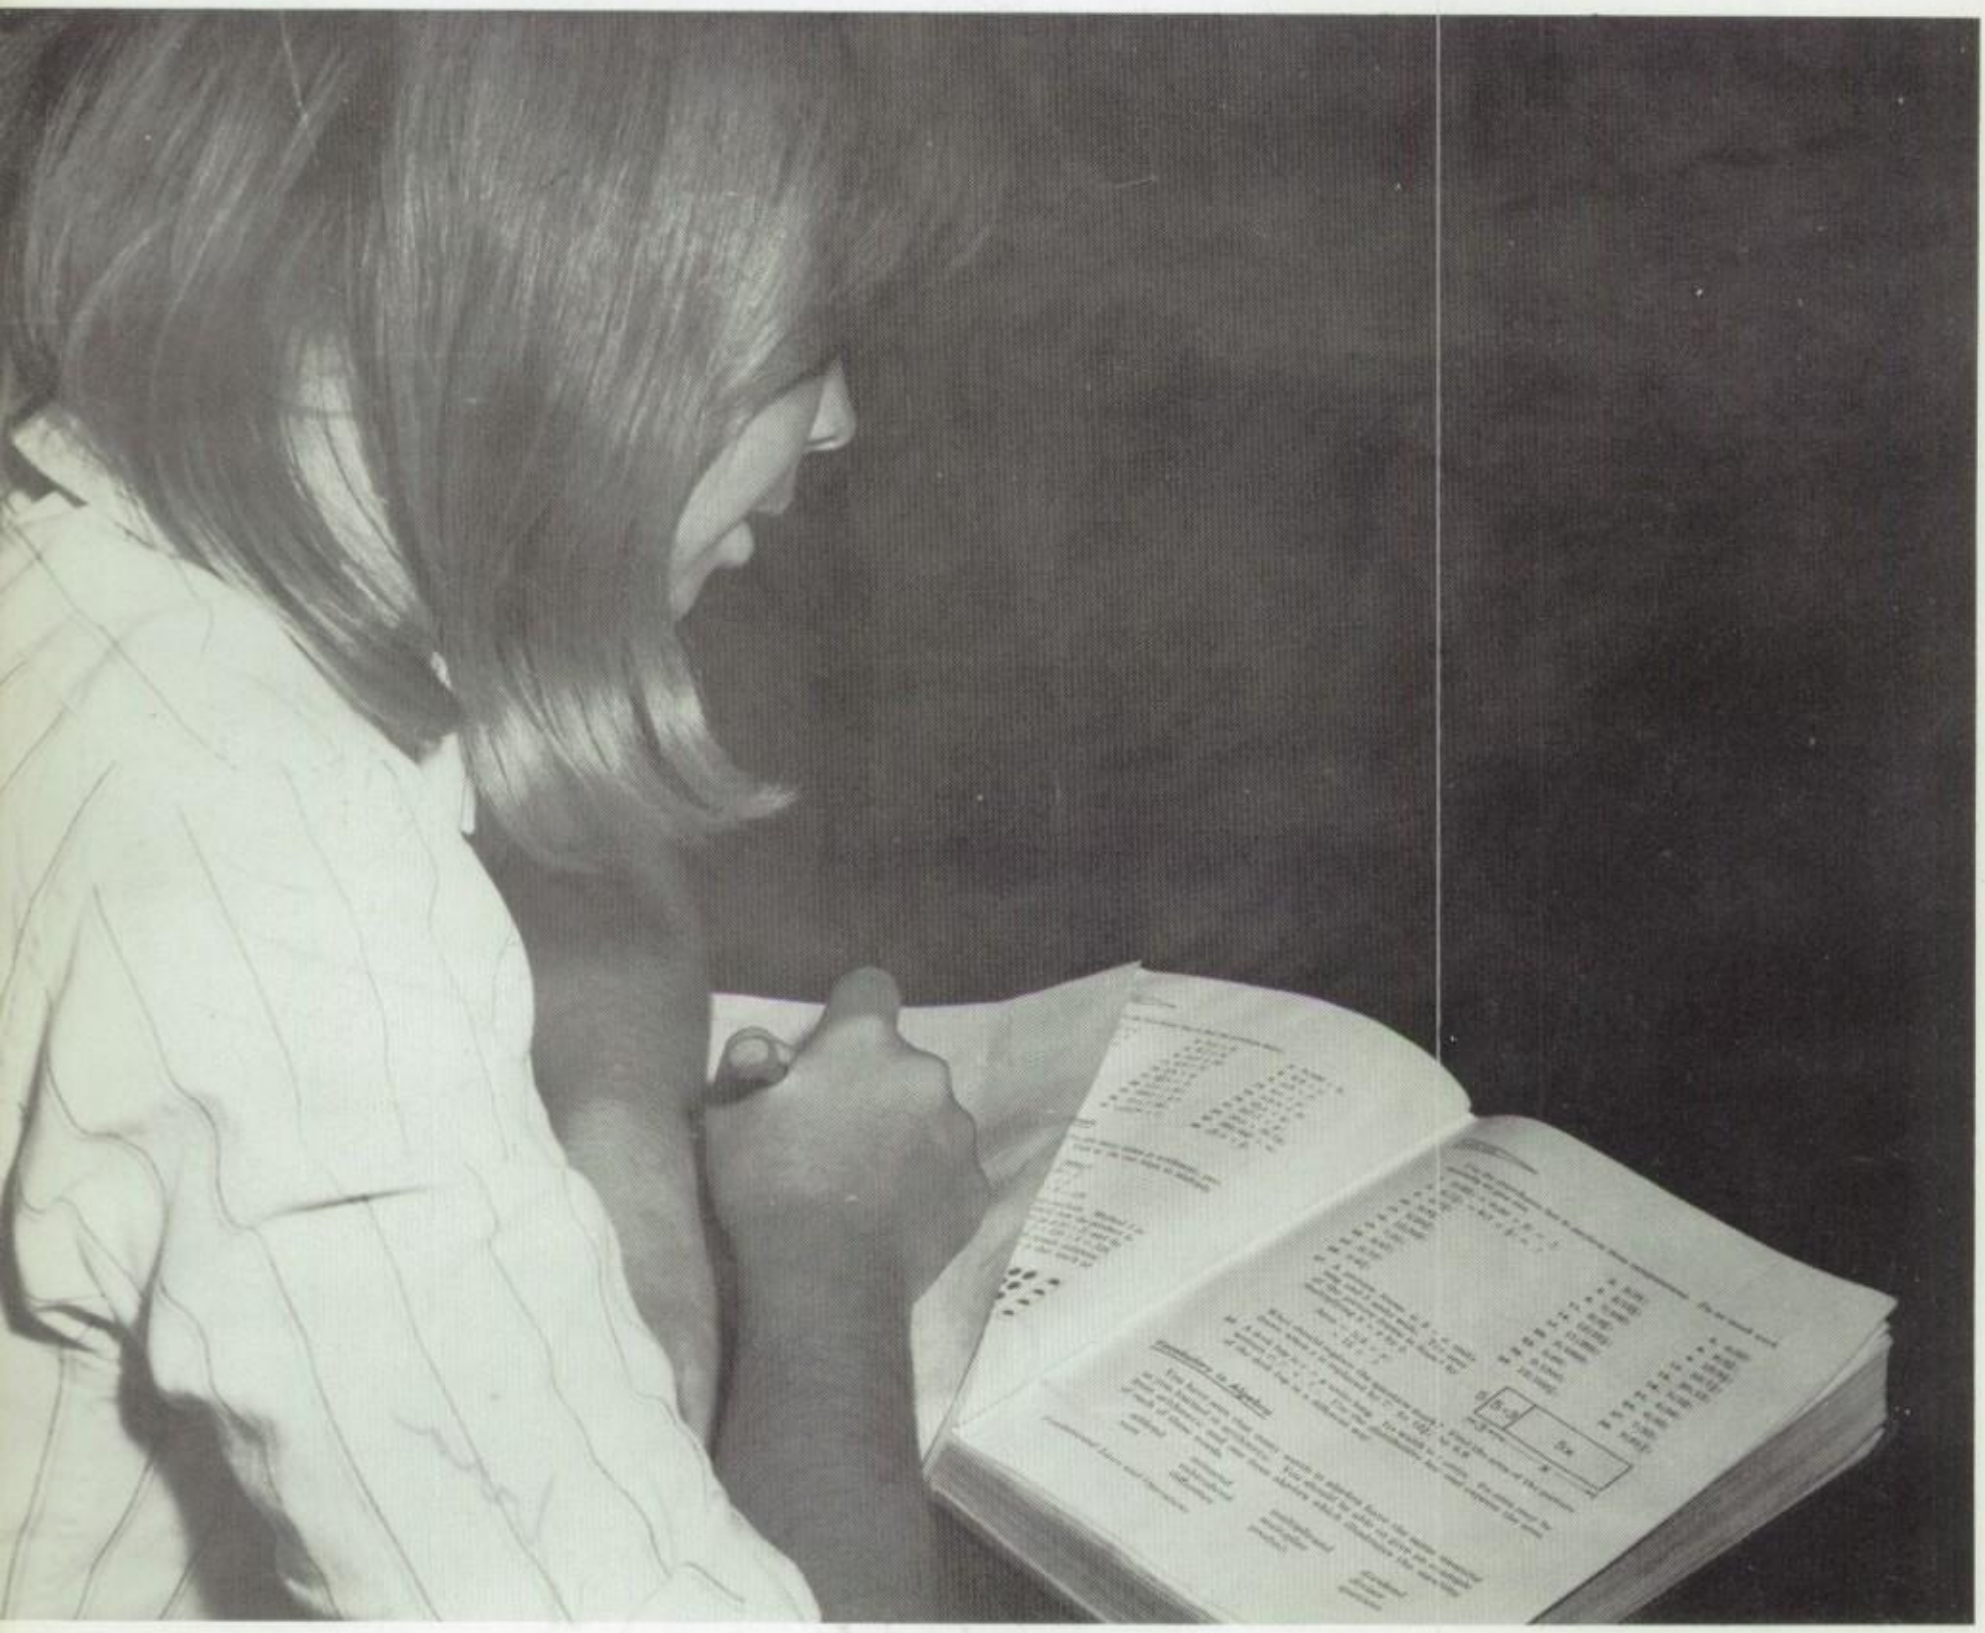
Brian, Kevin, Patty, Connie, and Fred unite to bring thoughts and ideas before the class.

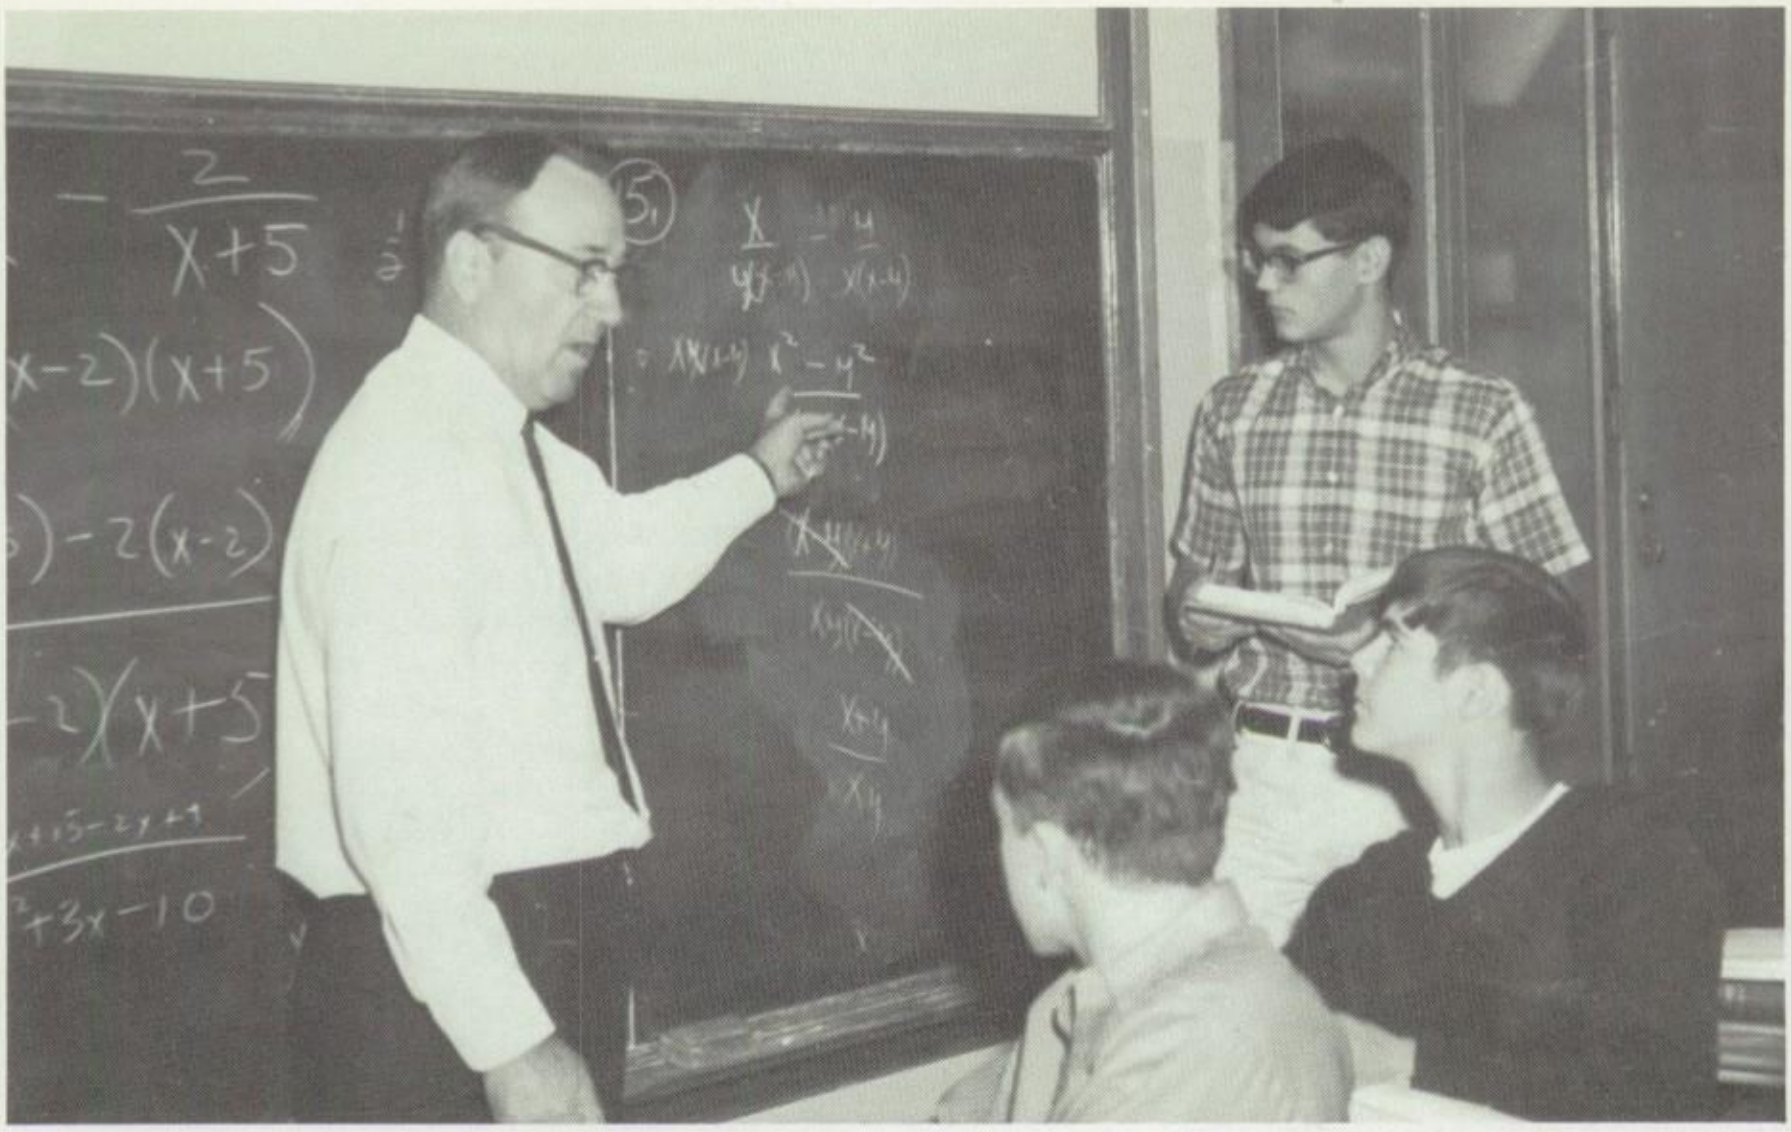
Without a basic background in the art of communication even the most brilliant mind is worthless.

Mathematics Gives Order and Logic to Solving Problems

Simple and complex numbers serve to train the average mind to seek solutions for the many intricate problems facing modern man.

Concentration and clear thinking are utilized by Bonnie Biggs to gain a basic comprehension of algebra.

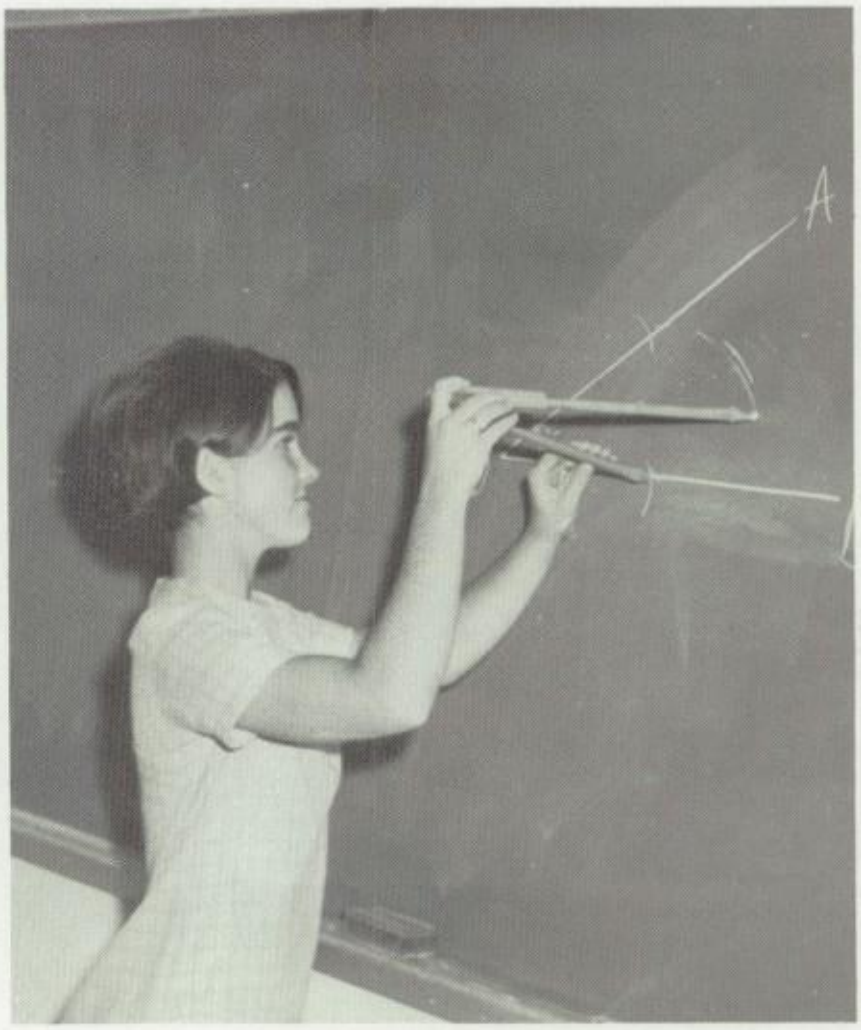


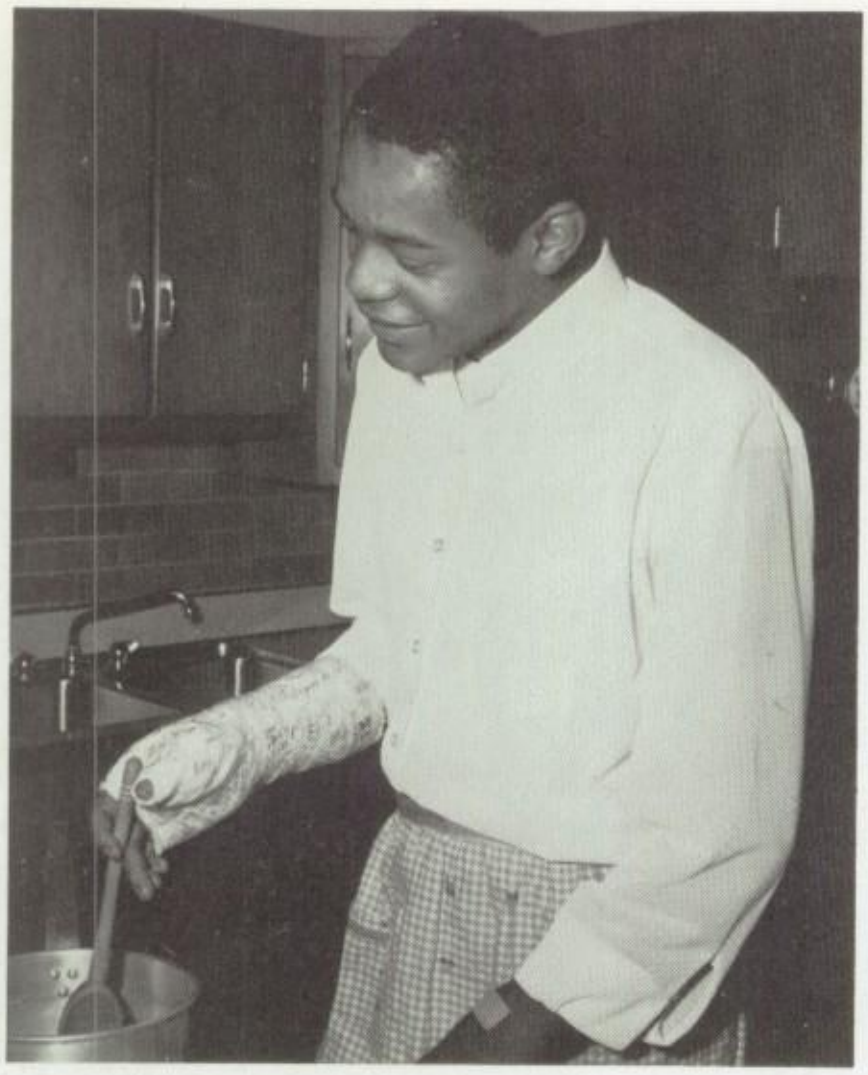


Mr. Edison explains a perplexing problem to his Algebra II class.

The polar chart aids Fran Reaves in her presentation to Analytic Geometry students.

A compass assures accuracy in geometric proofs for Debbie Kati.





Despite the handicap, Willie Wills manages to stay happy.

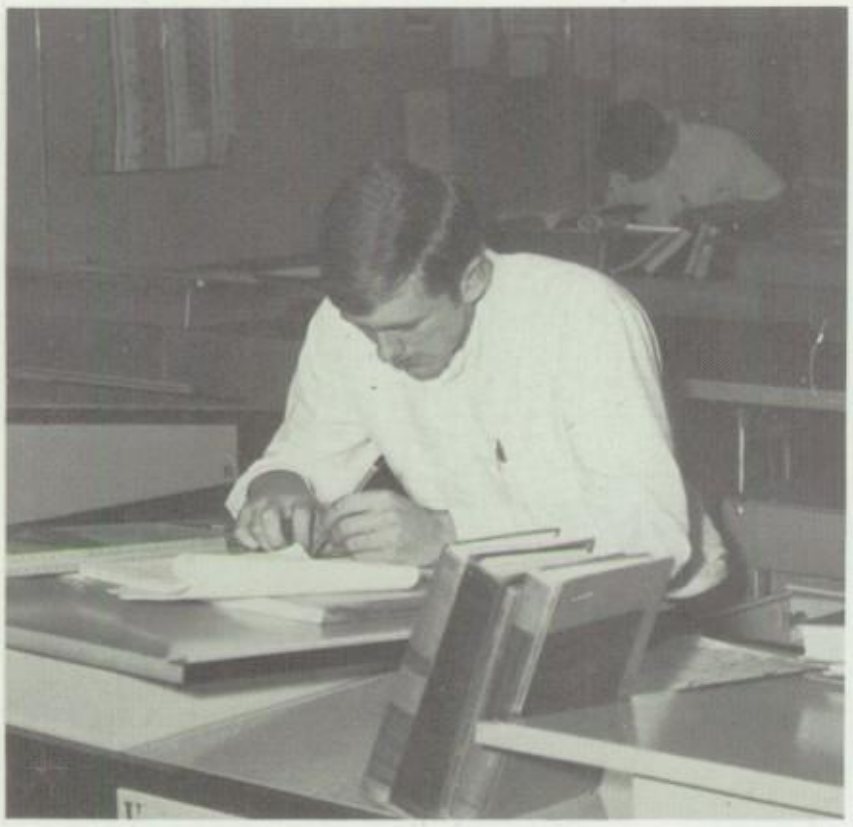
Miss Frueh advises Marty Pozil in sewing class.

Homemakers of Tomorrow

As our world is in a constant state of change, so it is with our homes. Home Economic students learn the most up-to-date methods in dealing with problems likely to arise in their environment. Cooking, sewing, and family planning are just some of the practical areas taught in this informative course.

Janice Williams keeps busy knitting while Diane Medich cuts out a pattern.

Industry on Parade

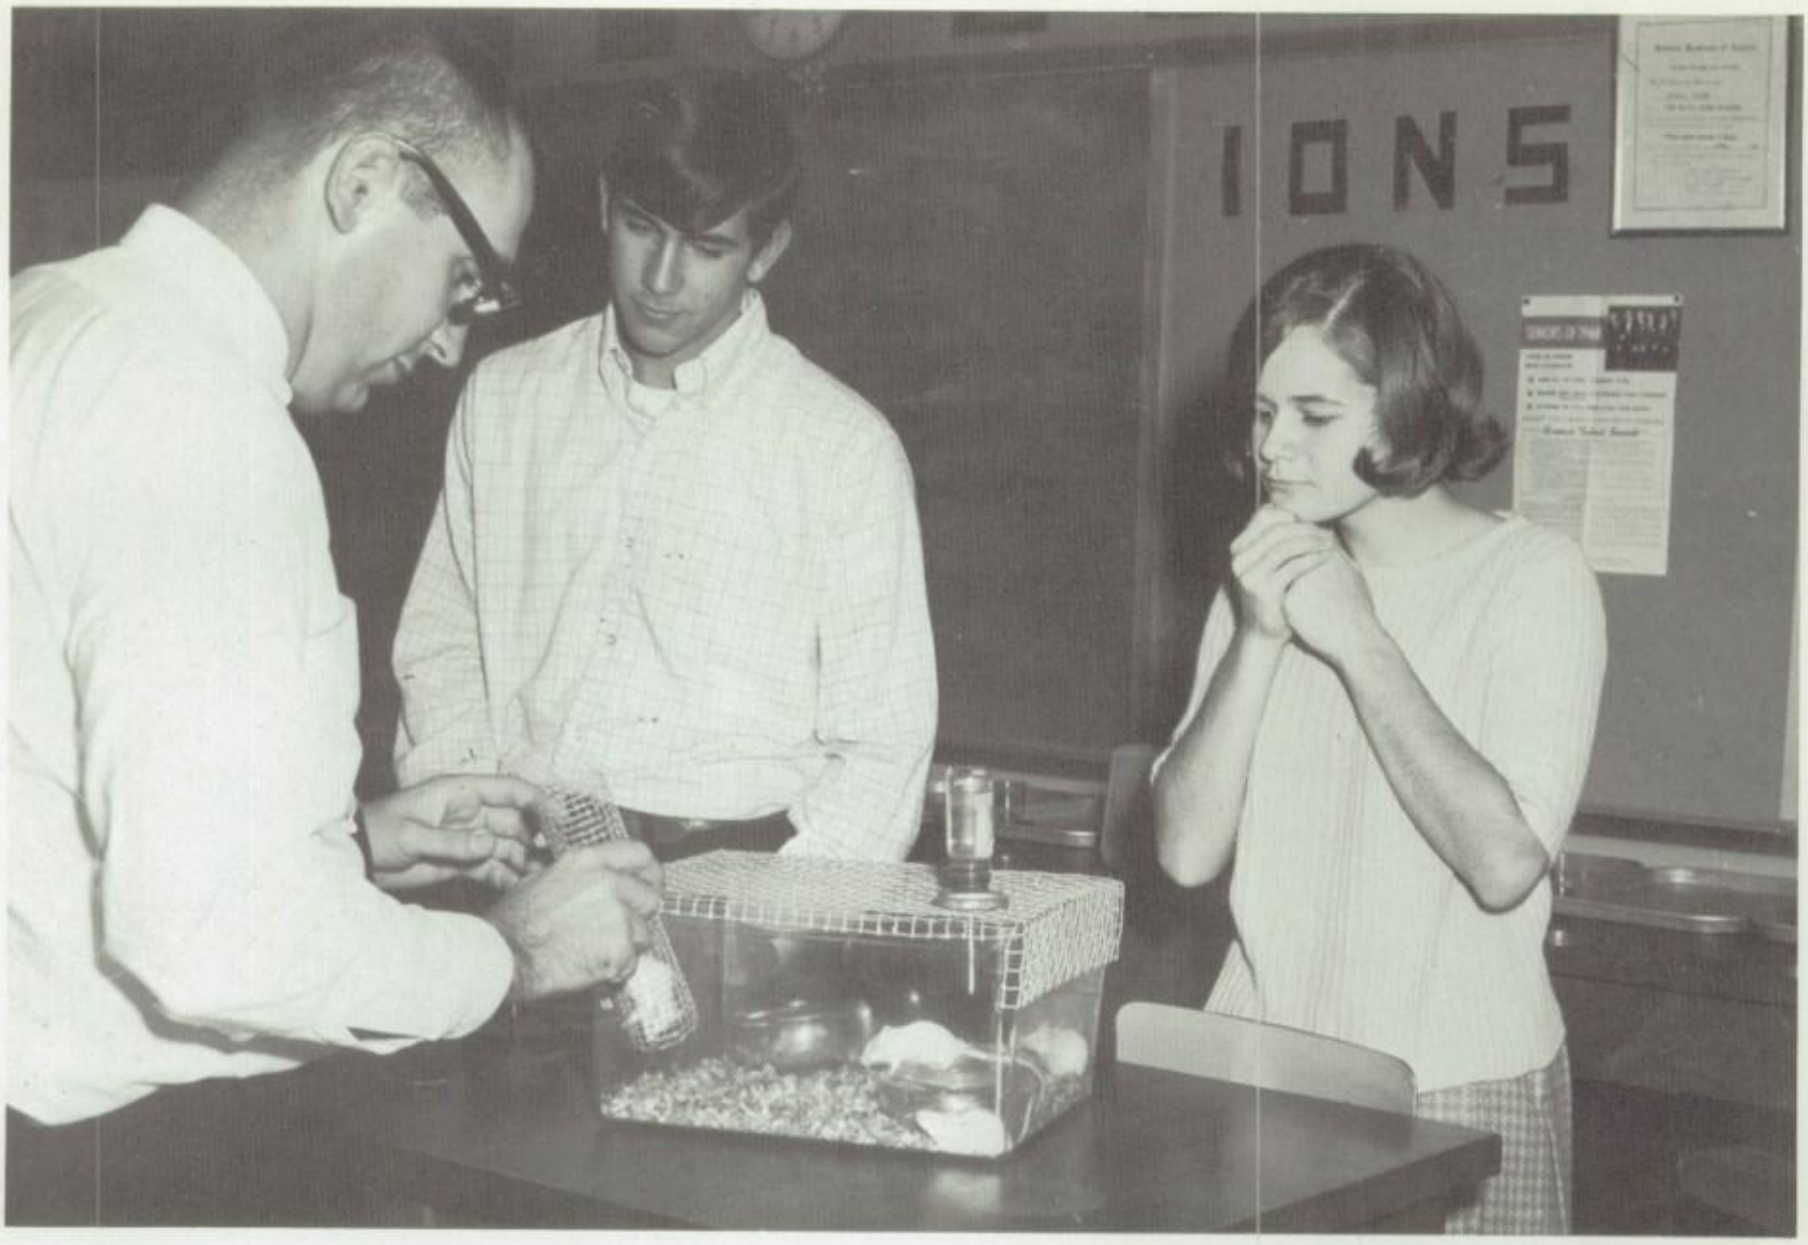


Diligently at work at the drawing board is John Linn.

Tony Peterson strives for 100% precision as Dave Leliaert watches.

Beneath this car is a mechanic, Ron Toll.

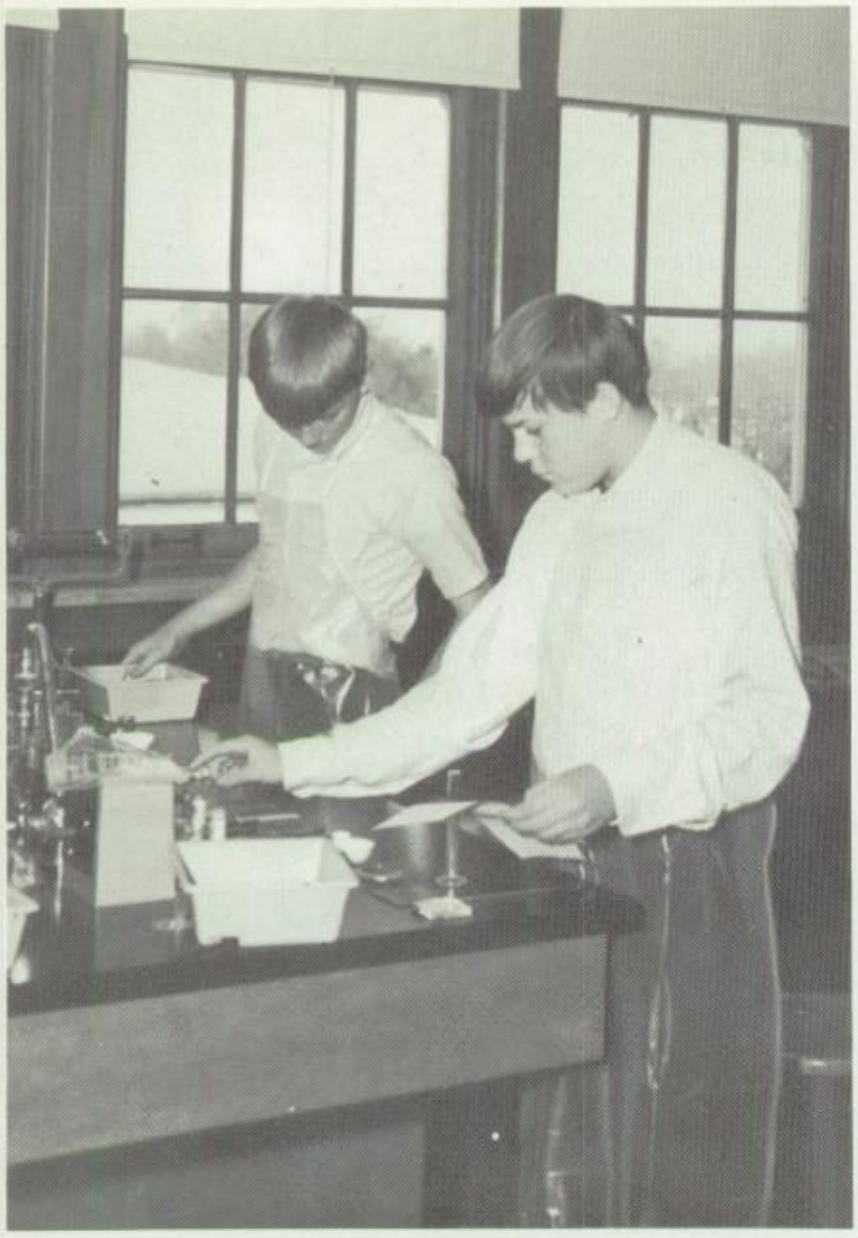
In Industrial Arts, it becomes a challenge to the Riley student to master the fundamental skills that play an integral part in the life of a skilled workman. This includes learning to operate and to repair complex machinery.



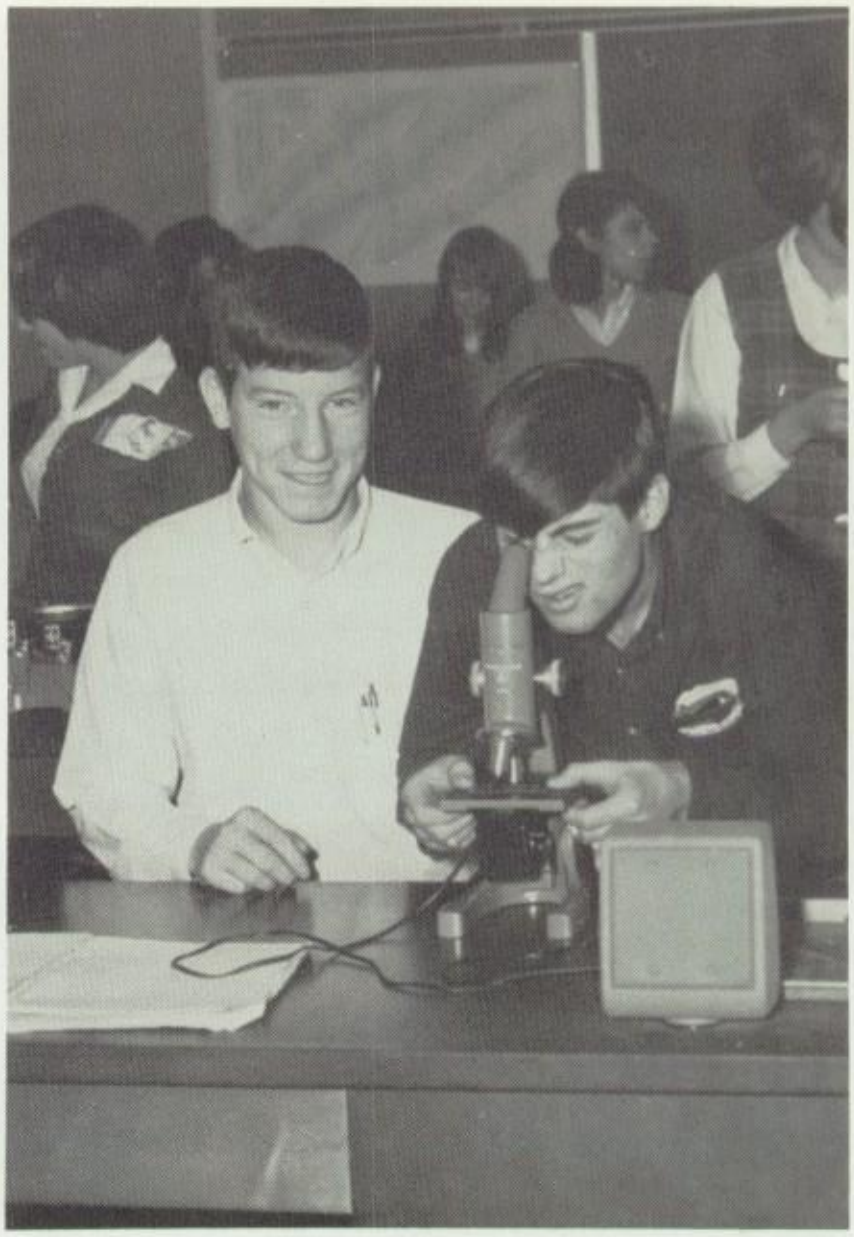
Randy Foster and Sue Nimtz give their undivided attention as Mr. Marker explains the metabolism of mice.

Physical and Biological Sciences

Conservation of momentum is visibly shown by Mrs. Hordemann for the benefit of two physics students Vicki Voss and Roger Schumann.



Tom Osmer and Craig Nedderman prepare for lab.

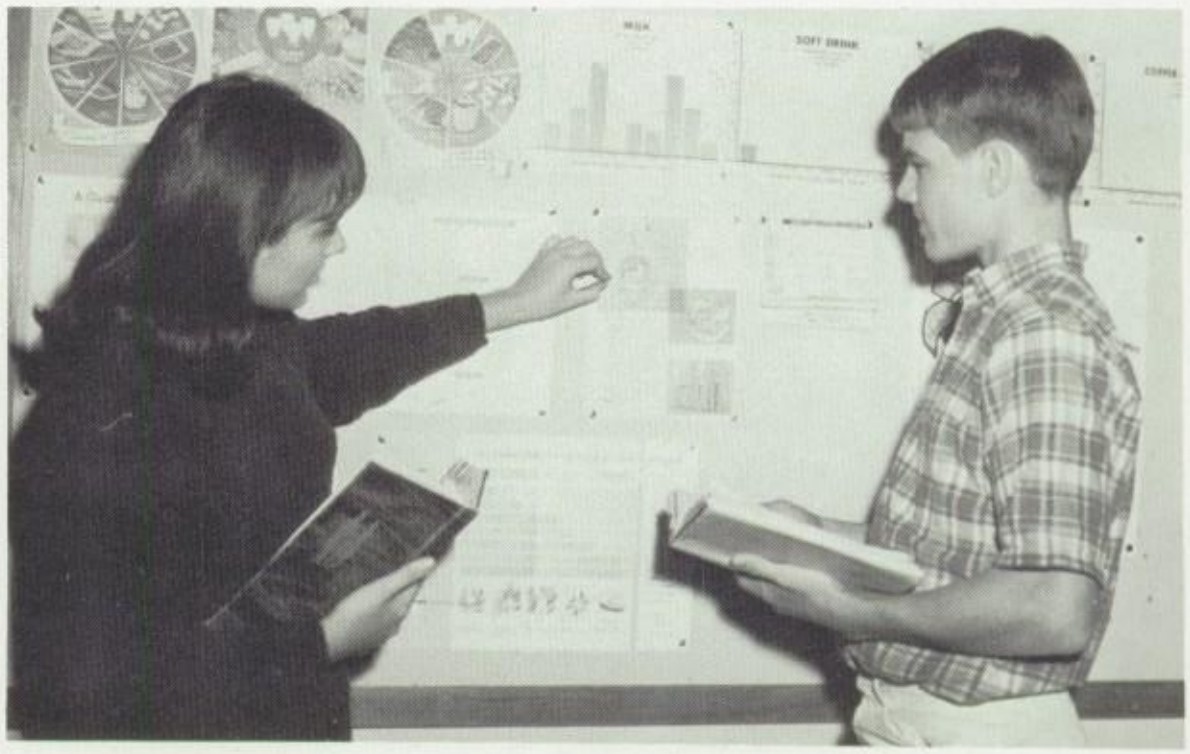


Bob Rarick and Dave Beverid have found something of interest.

Explore the Mysteries of Life

As we become adults, we become more and more dependent on our world's numerous achievements in the field of science. Riley students tend to appreciate these advancements with a deeper sense of understanding after they are exposed to the various scientific principles.

Health offers Carol Maxwell and John Basker a better understanding of the complex human body.



Faraway Places Come Nearer

Kathy Kirk and Kent Schuch absorb themselves in a contemporary piece of Russian literature.

This vast globe doesn't seem to be so huge after all, once you have mastered a foreign language. Each new fact learned about a different country brings the language student to a more intimate understanding of the people and places across the oceans.

These Spanish students are taking a refreshing break from grammar.

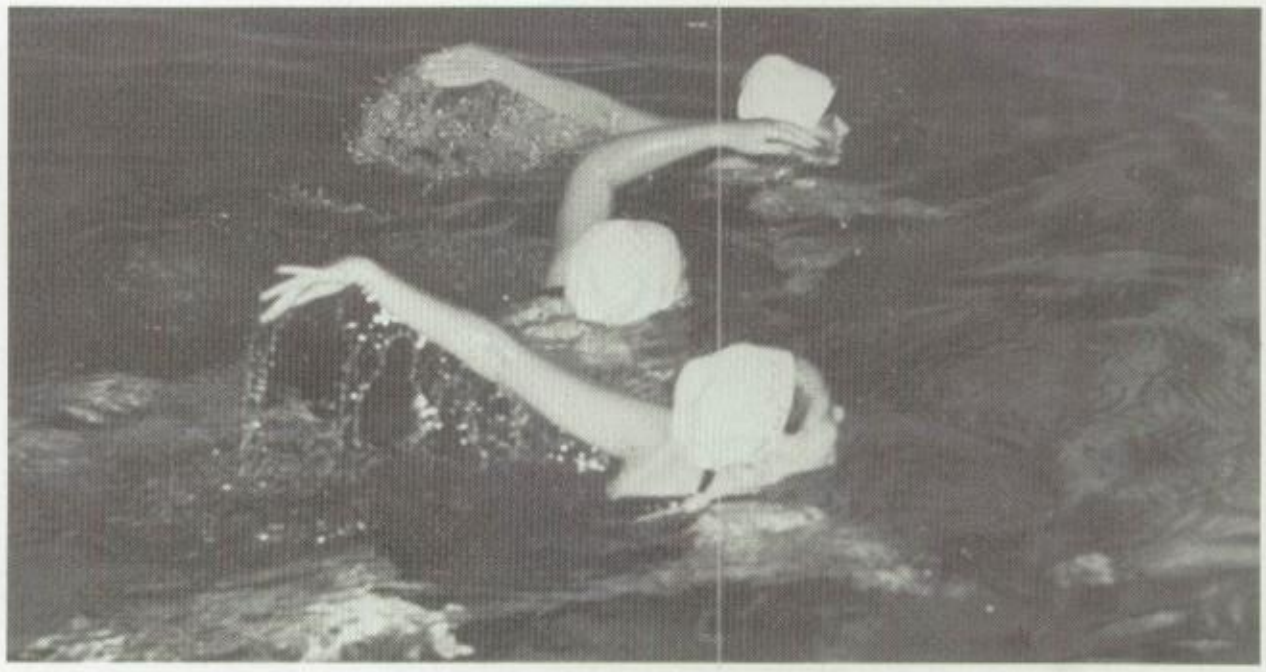
Aid from a friend is appreciated in German and all languages as Kathy Edwards and Marcia Toth will agree.

June Keresztes surveys an interesting French souvenir with Marilyn Farmer.

Mythology is a fascinating subject for Latin students.

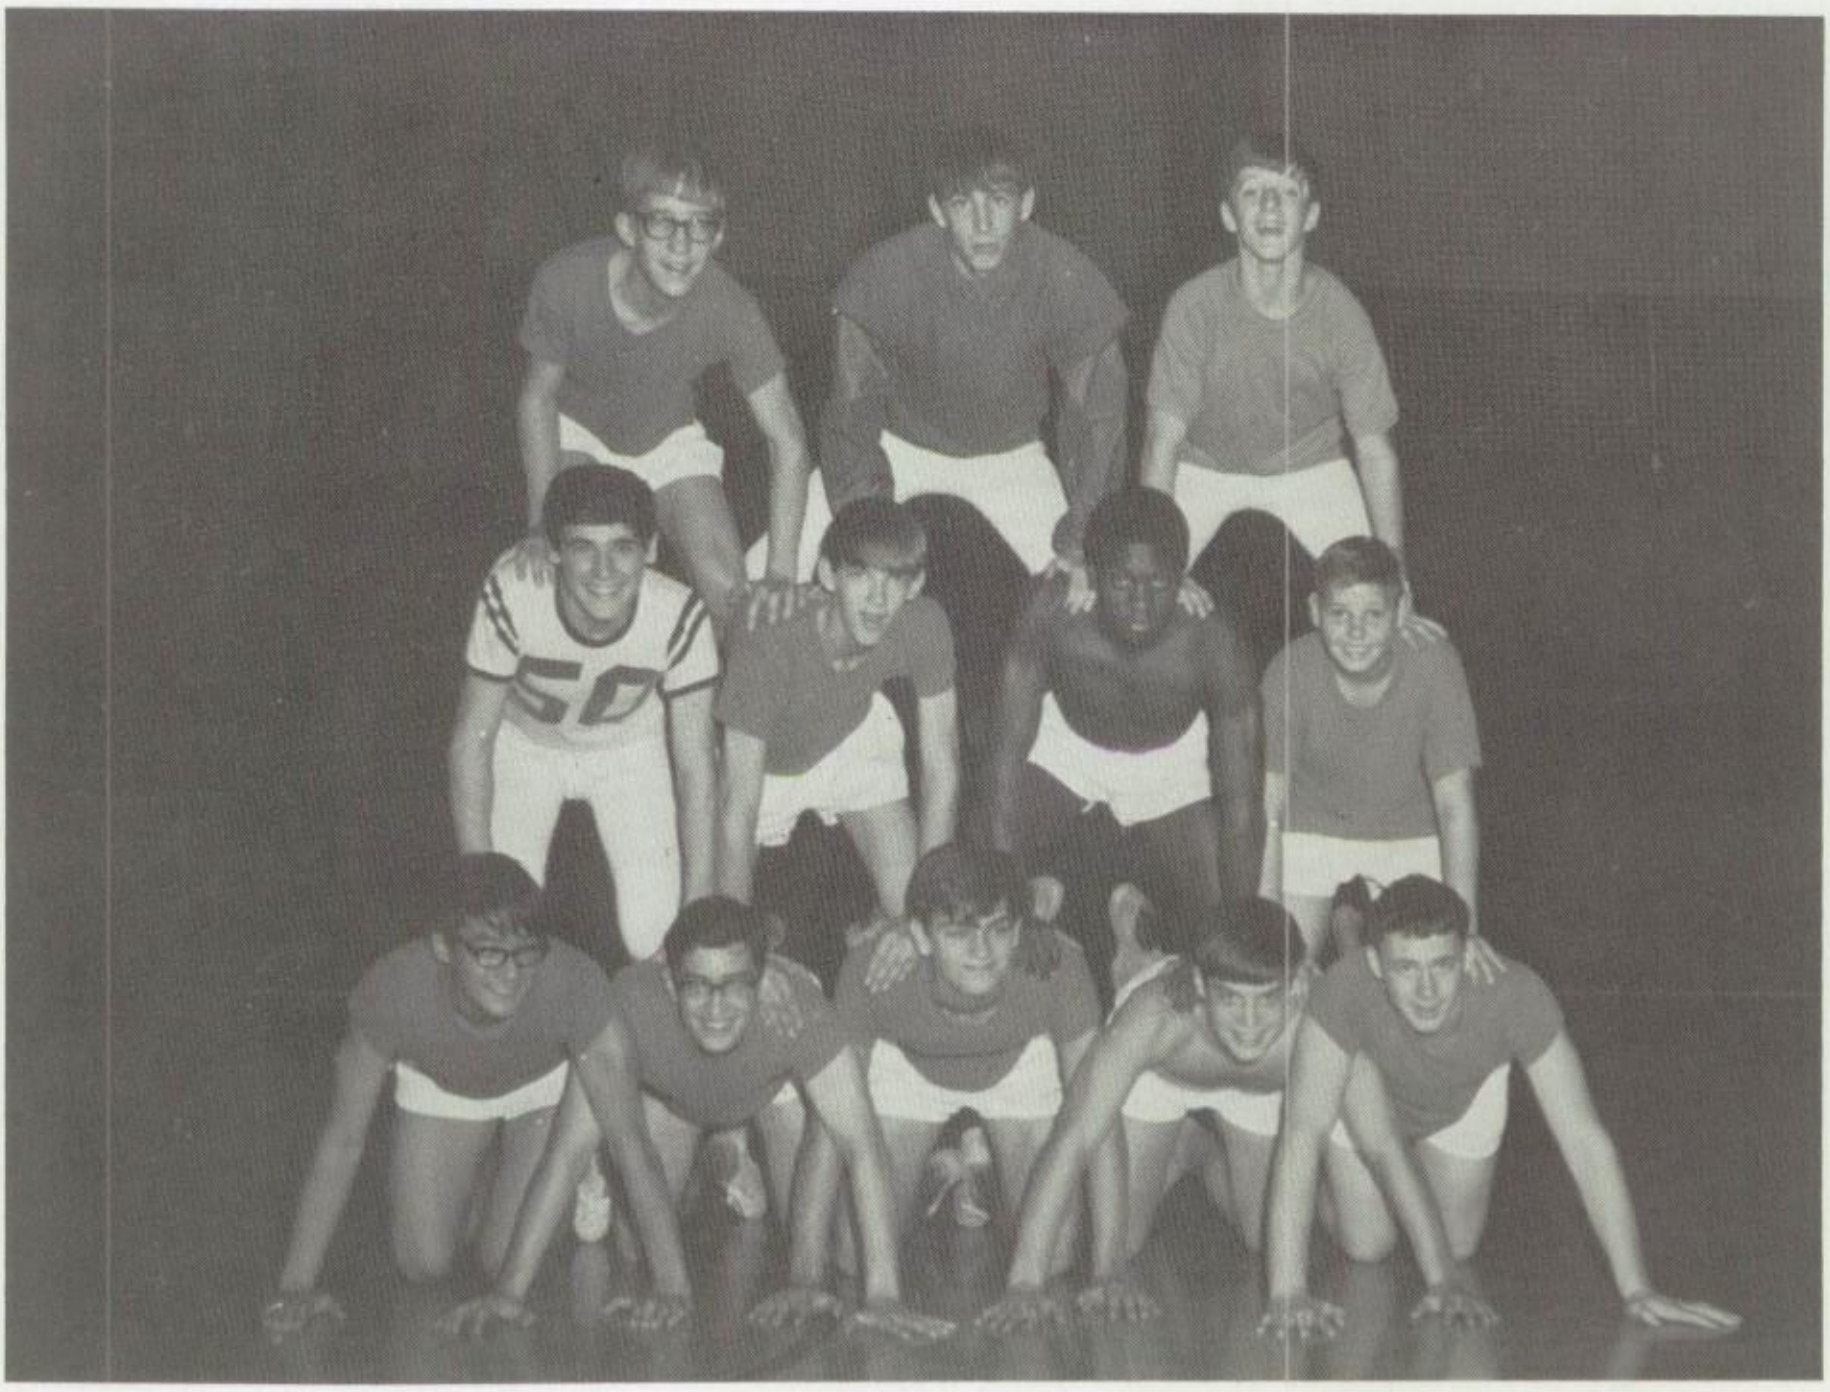
Coordination Through Teamwork

Physical Education students condition their bodies as well as their minds—it is important to keep both in the best of shape. Riley's still new facilities are kept in constant use by numerous activities.



Light recreation builds endurance.

A pyramid of strength.



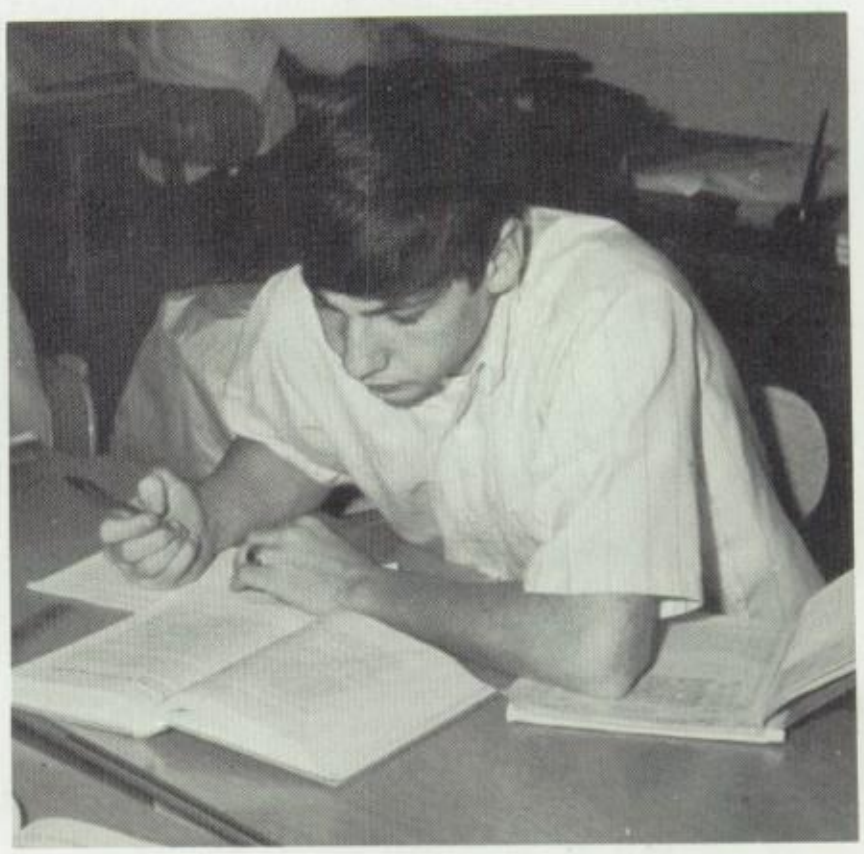
Precision Through Practice

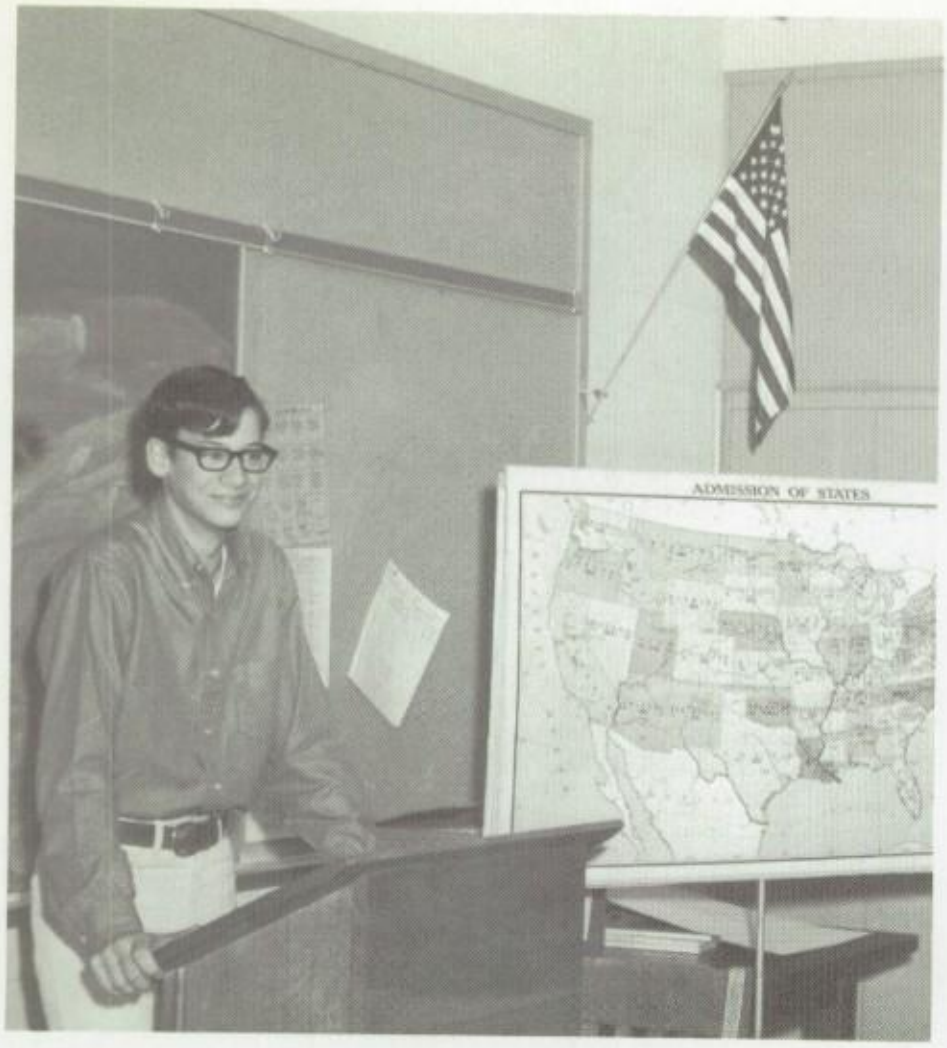
Jeannie Byler learns the necessary skill of typing.

When Riley's Business Education students walk into one of our typing rooms, they do mean business. A course in business can be used to supplement other classes, or it can lay the foundation for future employment. Pupils soon discover that proficiency in typing makes up but a small portion of office skills.

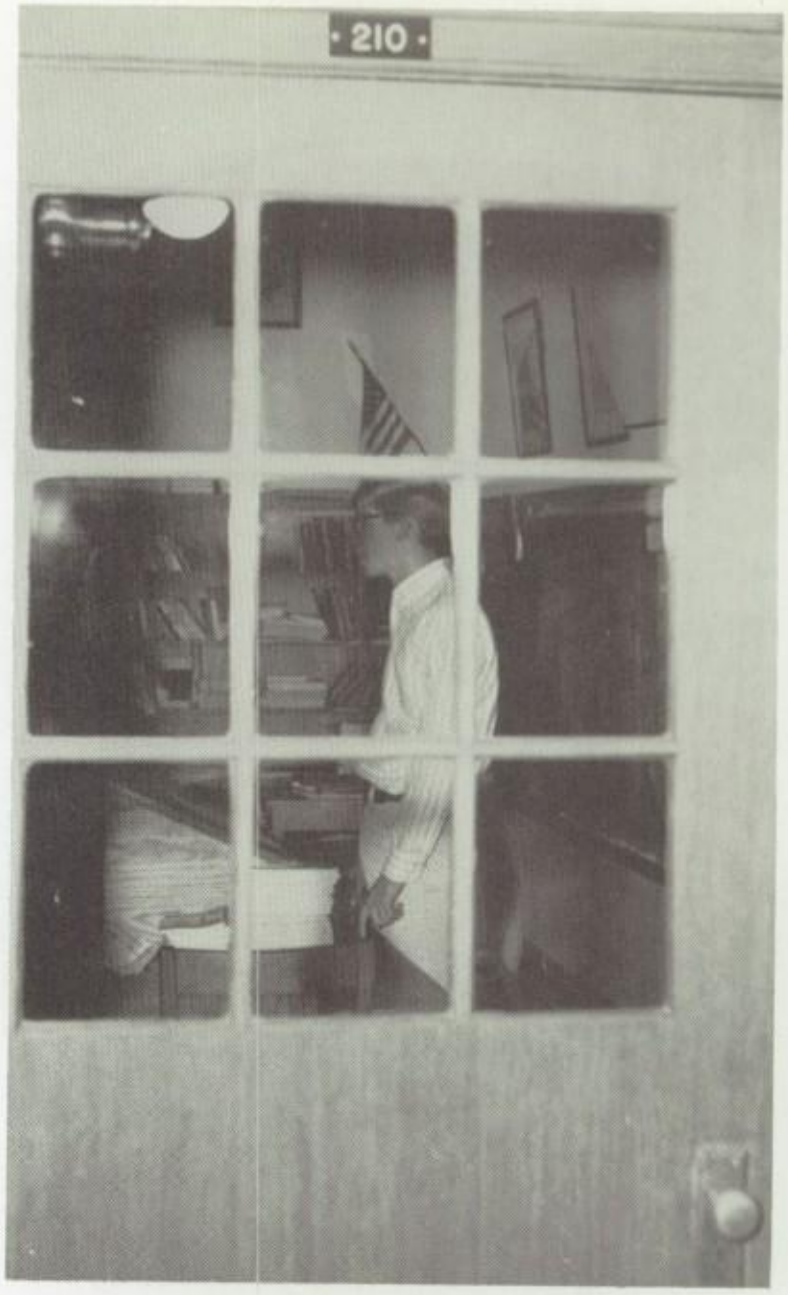
Sue Stansfield masters the skill of shorthand.

Boys, like Guy O'Connor, also seek acceptance into the business world.



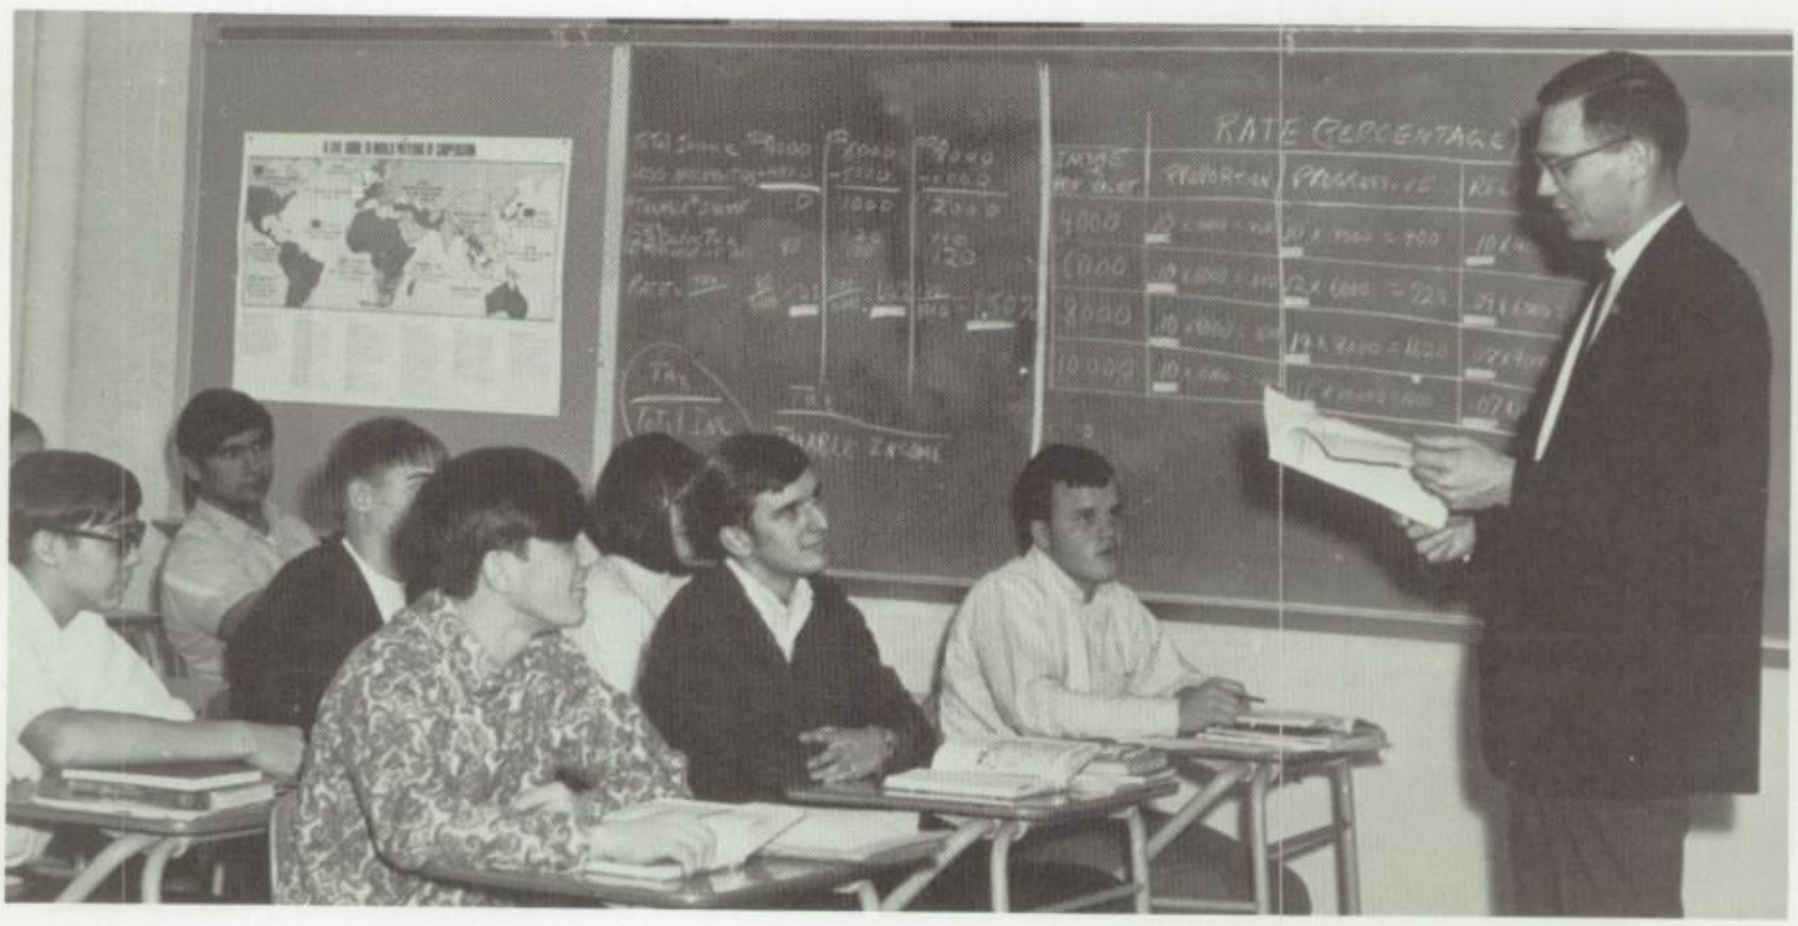


Varying opinions do exist in the field of U.S. History, so David Paskin adds his.



Government is offered to all Riley students and helps us to be good citizens.

A comprehending mind is necessary in Mr. Krider's economics class.

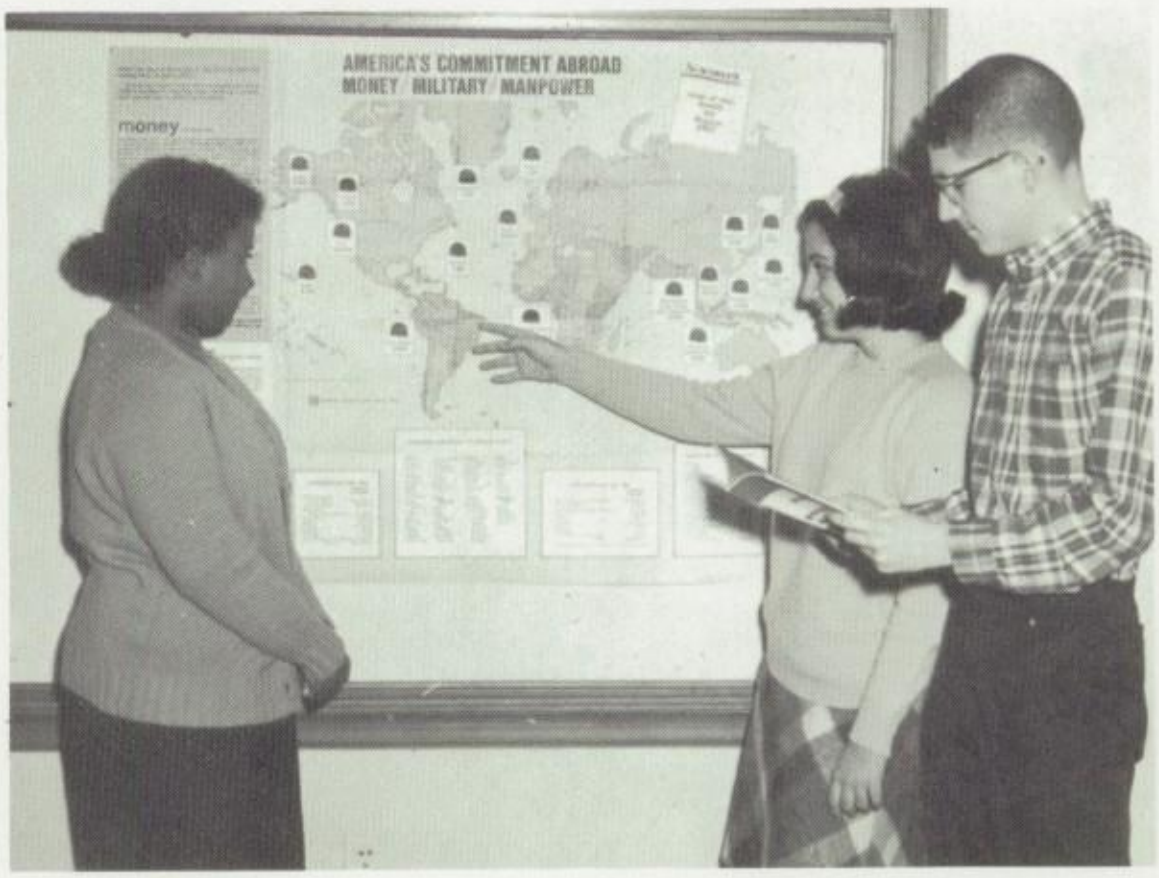


International Relations presents both sides of world problems and allows such activities as mock negotiations between the East and West.

An Understanding of National and World Events

Freshman Social Studies opens a new field and awakens the mind to the events of the modern world.

Learning the principles on which our government was founded rounds out the students' education. Courses varying from economics to world history give us a greater understanding of current events.

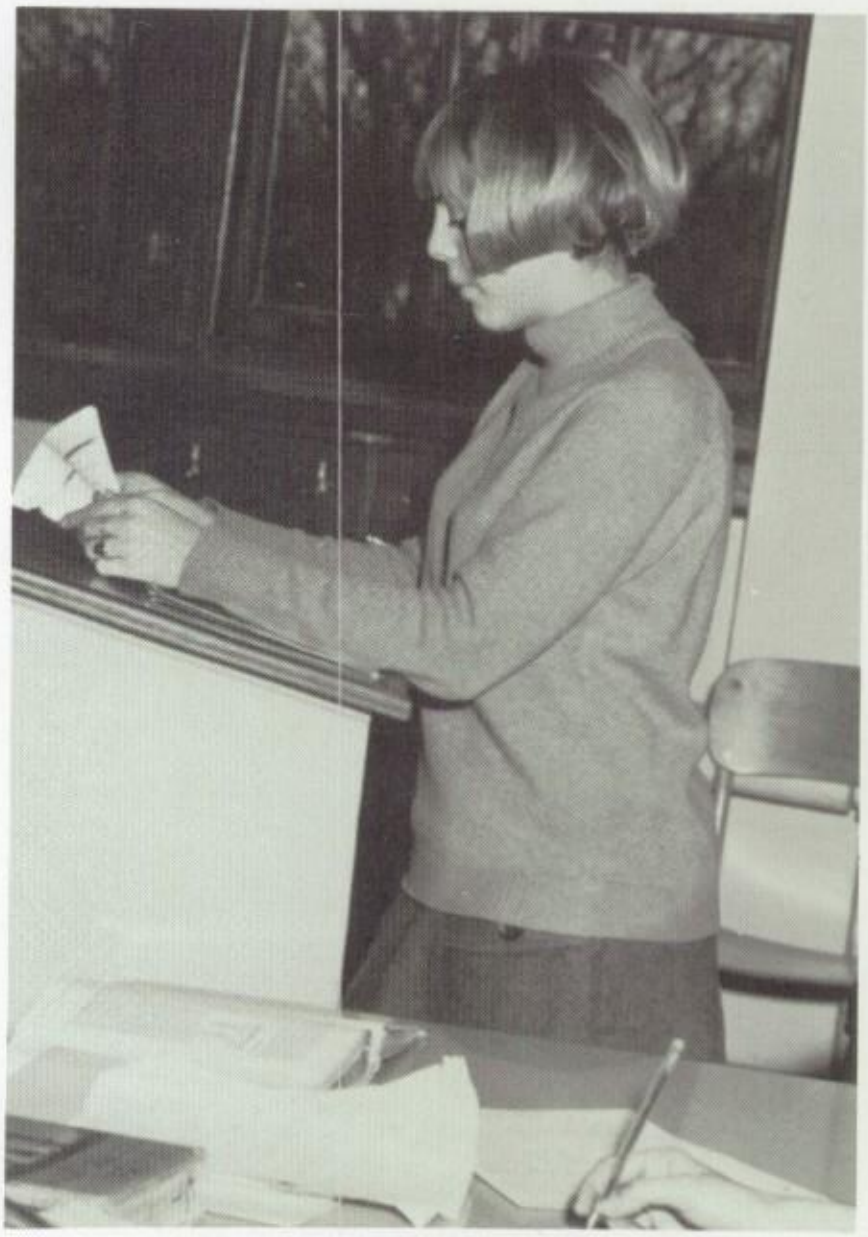


Harmony

Harmony proves to be an interesting prerequisite to enjoyable listening. In this new course, students learn to conduct, dictate, and compose their own scores of music. A student planning to major in music either in high school or college finds this course to be an asset.

Creative Writing

Mrs. Fabrycki and her creative writing students explore the deep philosophy of living by expressing themselves through their own themes. As an experimental course, students learn as much about themselves as they do about the expressions of others.



Imagination Made Visible

Mr. Peters takes time to give constructive criticism.

Putting down on canvas what the mind's eve interprets is a talent nurtured by concentration. Riley's art students gain this ability through consistent creative effort.

Donn Pendergrass and Kirk Rice concentrate on sculpture.

The End

- Jody -

To the best friend anyone could ever want to have. I've always thought you were so cute and sweet. Remember all the fun we've had ever since 7th grade. But don't ever forget this year. I'll never forget it and I hope you won't either. Don't ever let out my secrets cause boy would I ever get in trouble. Although if it's true everyone will find out anyway. Oh, well. Be good and watch the boys & the booze.

Remember all the fun and most of all Remember ME!

Good-luck always

A breath taking finish by Randy Lelieart.

Riley runners Mark Arsenault and Rich Greulich setting the pace.

From these figures of exhaustion it must have been a tight race.

Season

Rich Greulich sweating it out to the end.

The Riley Cross Country team showed a fine determination to win but rounded out the season with a 4—8 record. Led by Captain Mark Arsenault and Booster Club award winner Rich Greulich, the team ran hard-fought races. Next year looks very bright with returning letterman Rich Greulich and most improved award winner Charlie Cutler. Others returning are Kim Kryder, Randy Lelieart, and Larry Monsma.

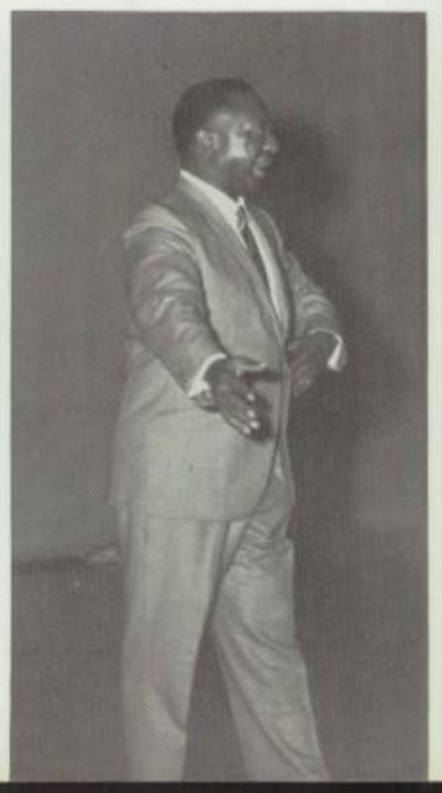
Activities

With only seconds to go, Carol and Vicki prepare for the Football Court.

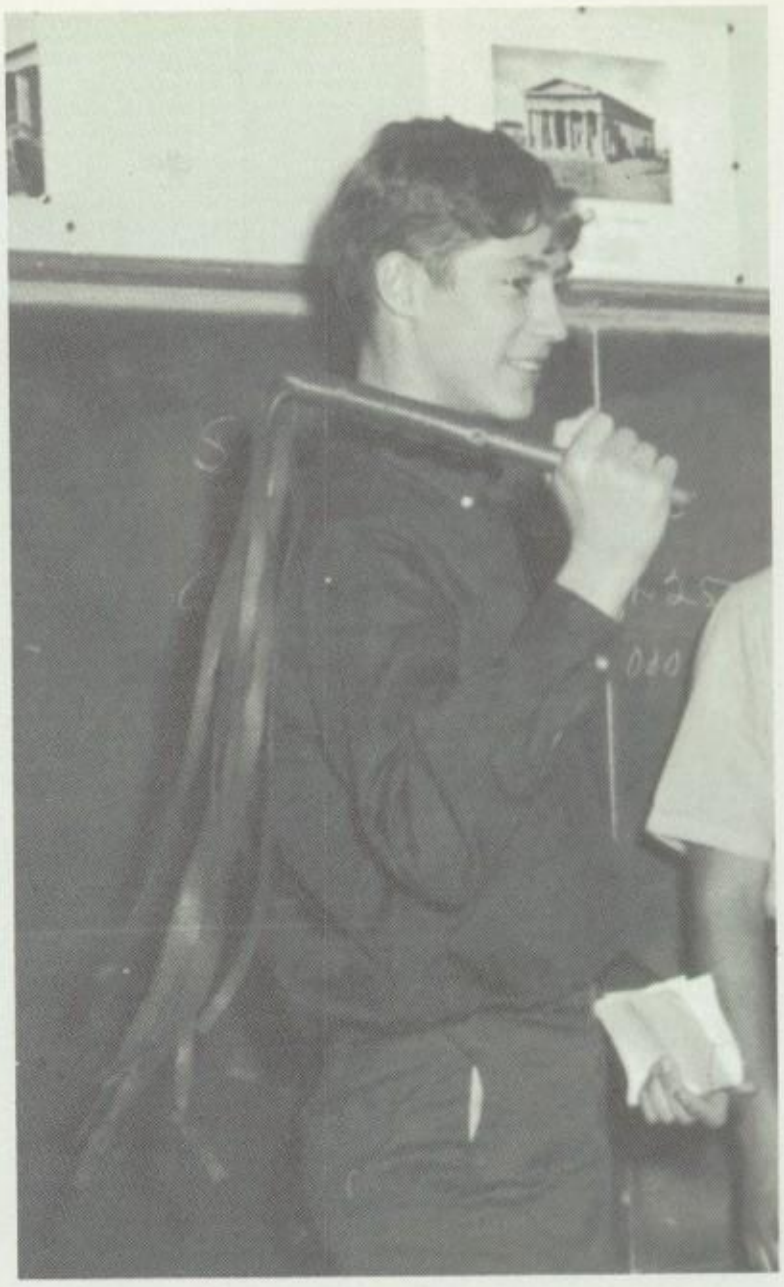
A comical smirk appears on Joe Thompson's face during the Model U.N. Does it pertain to his country, India?

Lord Grizzle, played by Gary Murray, sees his time is coming to an end.

Charles King shows Riley students how to sing from the diaphragm.



Are German Club initiations that funny, Carol Maxwell?



Nick Bely gets ready to crack the whip at a Latin Club slave auction.

The Percussion Trio gave Riley one of the most inspiring performances ever witnessed.

Marilyn McGrane and Judy Brown are deep in concentration representing their country, Sudan, in the Model U.N. at Riley.

The Fourth Annual

We set out to solve the problem of the world. Over 200 South Bend high school students had lost their identity and were now distinguished delegates from sixty nations. Many of us were new to the job and depended on the aid of two-year veterans. But whatever feelings of nervousness or discomfort we had at the offset were soon lost after fifteen minutes. Caucussing on the floor, sending urgent messages, plotting kidnappings, contemplating assassination caused an overall air of wordly sophistication.

Dennis Gay served as President of the General Assembly. George Murrman served as the interpreter and Diane Morrow counted votes.

SBMUNA

The People's Republic of China finds great humor in the Model U.N.

Kurt Gilman displays the seriousness of representing a country in the Model U.N.

We were proud to have our foreign exchange student, Effie Zeimbekaki, represent her native country, Greece.

The whistle blew. The drum major's baton sliced through the crisp autumn air. The marching season for the Riley Band was underway. After hours of concentrated practice, the one hundred instrumentalists became molded into a precision marching unit. As leaves fell, the half-time football music was replaced by our winter concert repertoire. This concert at Indiana University Extension featured Mr. Lackey's Varsity Band and Mr. Habegger's Concert Band. The eighty instrumentals of the first hour band contest was held in April. The year's last activities were closed with the stirring applause from an appreciative audience as the band concluded with their Spring Contest.

Who are the Riley students that start each day with a song in their hearts—the members of Riley High School's Glee Club under the direction of Rocco Germano. This excellent vocal choir has provided an appropriate mood for many assemblies throughout the year. The Riley High School Glee Club has been very busy this year.

First, there was the North Central Concert in which all high schools combine their singing talents. The highlight of the year was the Christmas performance, to be followed by the traditional Easter assembly. The Glee Club ends the year with the usual baccalaureate and commencement exercises.

Mr. Germano spends many hours and works hard directing the Riley Glee Club.

Of Harold Kottlowski

When Harold Kottlowski's baton begins to dance, the orchestra rehearsal room might resound with anything from a Bach canon to a Strauss waltz. Whether orchestra members are preparing a solo for a contest or an overture for the public, perfection is their ultimate goal.

Everything must be in order to begin.

Tom Thumb

A love song is played and sung by Karla Hamilton to Princess Duncamunca.

The royal court consists of Doodle, Lord Grizzle, King Arthur, Glumdalca, Queen Dollalala, and Tom Thumb played by Dennis Shultz, Gary Murray, Charles Anderson, Ruth Ann Beehler, Carol Wolfe, and Chris Hanna.

The cast for The Life and Death of Tom Thumb, the Great, by Henry Fielding, was chosen by Mr. James Lewis Casady, director. The satirical tragedy was presented at eight o'clock on May 11 and 12, 1967, in the Riley High School auditorium.

The final scene's comical casualties prove delightful to an attentive audience.

and The Imaginary Invalid

The Imaginary Invalid, under the direction of James Louis Casaday, was presented by the Drama Club November 9 and 10 in the Riley auditorium. The play centers around Argan, the imaginary invalid, who believes he is very ill. He surrounds himself with doctors and medicines until he is convinced by his family to become a "doctor" and cure himself.

Polichinelle, played by Dave Beveridge, arrives to serenade his love.

Argon, played by Gary Murray, and Béline, by Liz Detterich listen to a proposal.

Thomas Diafoirus, Wally Jessup, recites his memorized proposal to the parents of Angélique.

A scheming notary, Dennis Terry, speaks with Argon, the invalid played by Gary Murray, about Argon's will.

Angélique, Sue Nimtz, is assured that everything will be all right by Toinette, Beth Bliler.

EDITOR
SUE BOYCE

Editing the Hi-Times is an educational experience. The editors, several staff members, and the Hi-Times sponsor, Mrs. Louise Miller, attended Journalism Day held last spring at Ball State University, Muncie, Ind.

The Hi-Times began last September as a four-page paper. Many hours were spent writing and typing stories, counting words, and writing headlines before the copy was sent to the printers. To save money, the staff learned "to paste-up" the printed copy on dummy sheets. This process resembles the process of working jig-saw puzzles or of doing kindergarten I.Q. tests. To economize more, the paper was reduced to two pages to the dismay of the student body.

Fran and Sue feel that editing a newspaper has been an experience, but above all, they have had "Hi-Times."

MR. CROUSE

Mr. Crouse, Principal of James Whitcomb Riley High School, co-ordinates the administrative and academic areas to make Riley a smoothly run institution. In the seven years Mr. Crouse has been at Riley, he has offered new challenges, higher goals and more courses for students. He has encouraged us to do better in all areas and has followed up these challenges with praise, which unmistakably stems from pride whether in victory or defeat. He has increased school spirit and personal initiative. He is, more than anyone, responsible for all the day to day challenges which the students have come to know well. It is difficult for the students to realize the hard work and long hours necessary for this job, and it is even more difficult for the students to appreciate it. He is proud of us, and we are proud of him.

MR. LAWECKI

Mr. Lawecki is a recent addition to the administrative staff at Riley High School. He attended Indiana University where he attained his B.S. and M.S. degrees. As Assistant Principal, he undertakes this job with understanding and vigor; and has justly received the respect of the entire student body. He knows young people well. He feels at home at Riley, and we are glad to have him.

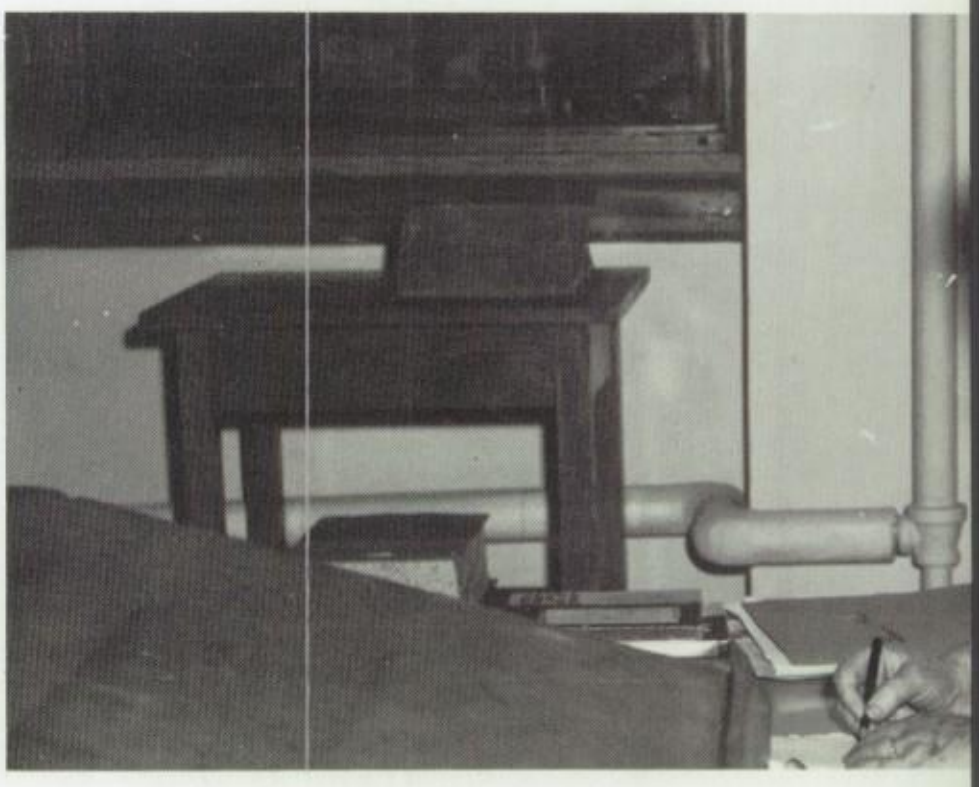
MISS MURPHY

For more than a year, the faculty was active in the preparation of materials for use by a committee of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

They were here in November to study the structure of our school and the whole school program for the purpose of evaluation.

Miss Murphy was chairman of the steering committee at Riley. The other members were Mr. Crouse, Mrs. Hammond, Mrs. Barnett, and Mr. Bilby.



She knows . . . she tells . . . and gets results Mrs. Bohan.

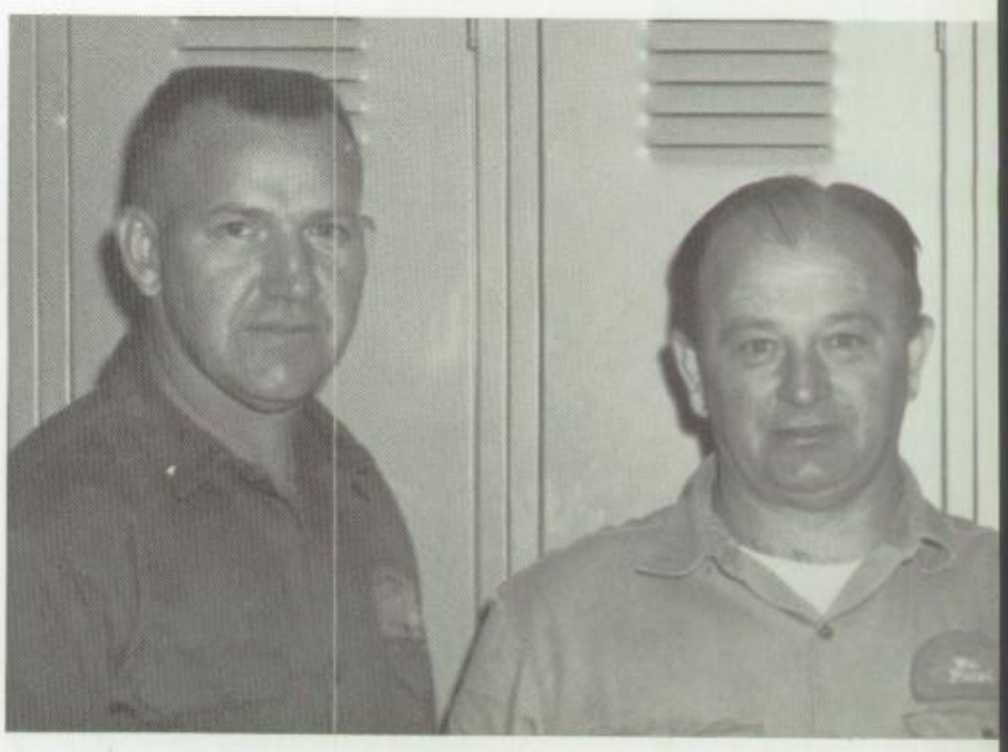
Between the bells, active discussions are frequently encountered between Mr. Parker and Mr. Kelly.

Its a nasal sound—Bon—and you'd better believe it!

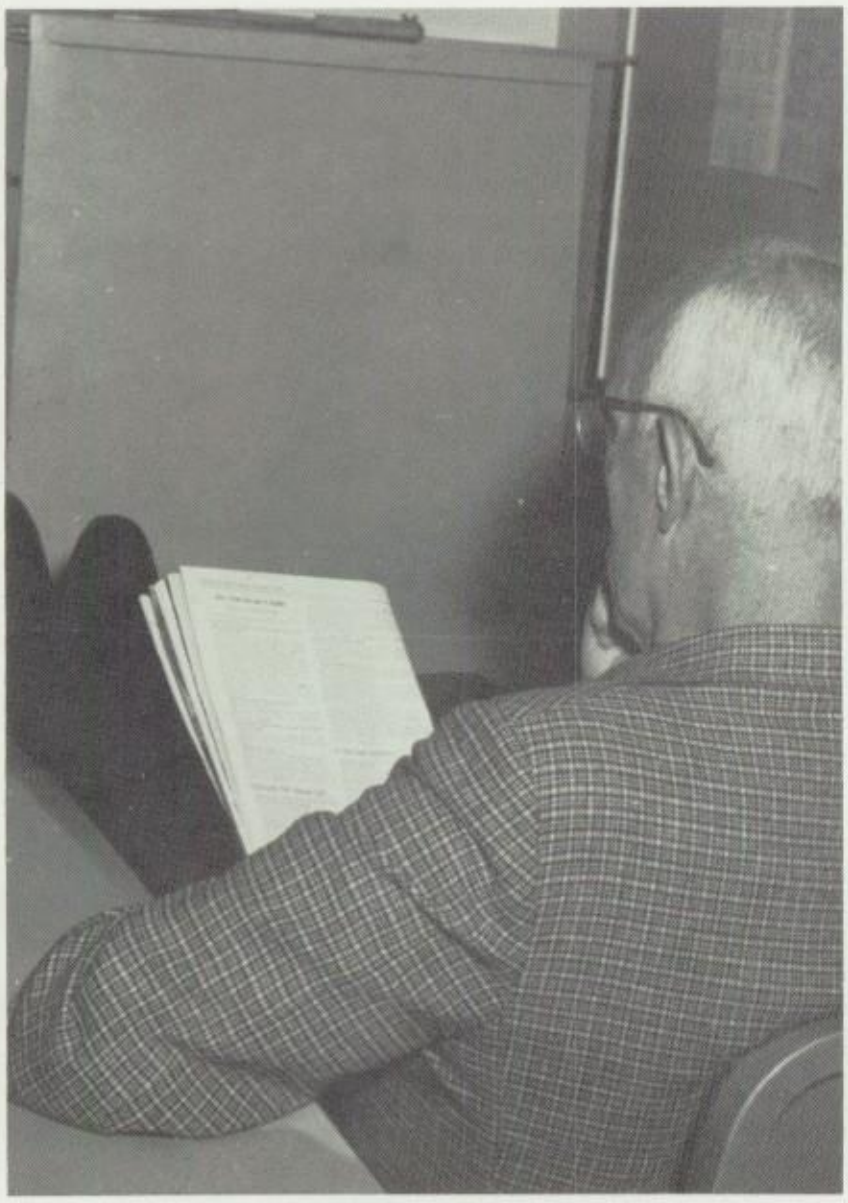
Mrs. Barnett realizes a teachers work is never done.

A pleasant addition to our office staff is Mrs. Sweitzer.

Miss Wolfe flies to the aid of her biology students.



Mr. Beither, Mr. Pecsi, Mr. Wolf, and Mr. Woodard, head custodian are responsible for the promotion and maintenance of our fine school.



Mr. Stewart relaxes during his free hour.

Mr. Covert on duty during his lunch hour.
